Introduction

The word “app” is short for application. An application tells your phone how to do a related set of tasks. In this guide, you will learn how to use your phone app.

A cell phone can do much more than a landline. This coaching session will describe different ways to initiate and receive phone calls, features to be aware of while on a phone call, and how to setup and manage voicemail. Your coach will support you as you use this guide to best set up your phone for the Phone app and practice the functions. You can refer to this guide anytime you want to do any of these steps independently. Please write or draw on the pages in any way that will help your independent use of the guide.

Different people like to communicate in different ways. When adding someone to your contacts, ask them if they prefer calls, text or email. Using their preferred method when you contact them will help you to get a quicker response.

There are different ways to make a call. Skip to the one(s) that suit you best. Be adventurous and maybe try something new!

Block a Call

If you find that you are receiving phone calls from someone who you do not want to communicate with, you can block that person from contacting you in the future. When a call is blocked, your phone will not ring when that person calls. It goes straight to voicemail. When you view your voicemail list, blocked calls show up in their own folder, so you can ignore them. The blocked caller will not know that you have blocked them.
